COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course is designed for gastroenterologists and surgeons already performing endoscopy techniques, as well as GI nursing and technical staff. Expert faculty will discuss the latest information, including key presentations from Digestive Disease Week.

We hope to provide the very latest information on advanced GI endoscopy techniques and applications, utilizing experts in an informal atmosphere conducive to discussion.

MUSC Faculty will conduct the course which is sponsored by the Division of Gastroenterology in the Department of Medicine of the Medical University of South Carolina.
